Most of language learning happens outside the classroom in places like your home or a library near you. The five ways below can help you improve your understanding of the language.

- Get a good dictionary. A dictionary is your best friend while you're learning English.
- Label things in your house. Buy a pack of labels and then write the name of items on them, such as phone, window, etc. This is great for beginners.
- Practice every day. Make yourself a study plan. Decide how much time a week you are going to study.
- Don't be afraid to make mistakes. Good learners are confident when speaking in English.
- Practice all four language skills: Reading, writing, speaking, and listening.

Technology is influencing the lives of people these days. Working with computers and mobile phones is changing people's habits and lifestyles. Most of the time, people have no good reason for using their laptops and mobile phones everywhere. They do not read a book or visit their relatives very often. They do not sleep well or do not eat because of their addiction to technology. They quit good habits like doing daily exercises or attending social events, and choose an unhealthy lifestyle. To live longer, they need to rethink the way they live, work, and use technology.

Technology is making new developments in research and science. New medicines and medical inventions save the lives of many people. They let people have a happy and healthy life. New medicines such as anti-cancer drugs and new antibiotics cure many patients. Some technological inventions help doctors to check people's health condition. They find keys to the secrets of the human body. New technologies help doctors to learn about diseases and how these diseases get around. They find ways to fight and stop them in their early stages. Technology has negative effects on the way people live; however, it is positive for research and science.
